

We wish we could build another house! If you choose Jonathan Lee as your builder, you will feel the same way. Jonathan Lee and his staff make building your home a most pleasurable experience!

We searched for homes in Winston-Salem for about a year with the help of Peggy Gheesling of Berkshire Hathaway HomeServices Carolina Realty, our awesome real estate agent. Although Peggy works with Jonathan Lee marketing homes in the Village at Brookberry Farm, Peggy showed us all manner of houses around Winston-Salem, yet we always were sure (when Peggy's tour of available houses ended for the day) to have our own private get-aways to take in the charming and unique construction we came to appreciate at Brookberry Village. For us, all roads seemed to lead back to Brookberry Village, and, when we finally decided to build, we were doubly blessed to have Peggy introduce us to Jonathan Lee, a builder we can now appreciate as the best!

We can't say enough about working with Jonathan Lee and his construction superintendent, Tim Fox, who made our project a completely pleasurable and satisfying undertaking. If you can put "pleasurable and satisfying" in the same sentence when describing building a home, then Jonathan Lee must be your builder!

Jonathan Lee is detailed and demanding in every aspect of home construction. His construction site is always free of debris unlike many other sites we have seen. While Jonathan has earned the respect and approval of his many subcontractors; we have heard subs claim they would not work for any other builder because Jonathan Lee does it right. Without exception, we could not find anybody familiar with construction at Brookberry to have any opinion about Jonathan Lee that did not stress his integrity and dedication to doing things right.

Jonathan Lee has put together a team that will help you throughout every phase of the building process. His wife, Alicia, will guide you through your meetings with suppliers and her design savvy will have your new home look amazing. Tim Fox, Jonathan's right hand, will go to any lengths at any time to be certain that the owners are completely happy with the building process and the results obtained. And for emotional support, encouragement and invaluable communication, Jonathan's office manager, Leslie, always was on top of who was where and when things were to happen. Ultimately, everyone involved with our construction project prompted us to proudly brag that we live in a 2017 Winston Salem Parade of Homes Gold Winner built by Jonathan Lee!

NOTE: When choosing Jonathan Lee as your home builder and if choosing the Village at Brookberry Farm as your building site, please purchase Lot 377 next to us. Since we're not now building another house with Jonathan Lee, we can't think of anything nicer than having Jonathan Lee and his team building a home next door!
